

Community Exchange at LEARN

On May 31st, the Provincial Resource Team hosted a Community Exchange at LEARN, bringing together 20 provincially and regionally mandated organizations interested in forming school-community partnerships.

Each organization shared upcoming activities, resources and strategies for the 2017-2018 school year which cater to different age groups across the English-speaking community. We talked about potential future collaborations on the themes of parental engagement and empowerment, students success, and bilingualism and literacy.

Resources by Audience infographic Download

"I loved the the Community Exchange event and learned a lot at many levels. The LEARN team created a lively and innovative format for the day that encouraged exchange and network-building. These are key for sustainable and vital English-speaking communities in Quebec. It would be great to have more events like these."
— Lorraine O'Donnell, Ph.D. Affiliate Assistant Professor, School of Community and Public Affairs, Concordia University, & Coordinator-Researcher, Quebec English-Speaking Communities Research Network \(QUESCREN\)

Overall, participants left feeling excited about new connections, encouraged and inspired to work together with the educational community to support student success and enhance community vitality.

How you can get involved:

TEACH

Teachers, principals and school staff interested in developing school-community partnerships can contact LEARN's Provincial Resource Team for resources and to connect to organizations that offer services to the English-Speaking community.

LEARN

Parents and community members who would like to learn more about the projects and partnerships available in your community are invited to visit us here to locate your nearest CLC Visit site .

HELP

If your organization would like to offer services to the English-Speaking community, create partnerships with schools, or you would like to participate in the next community exchange, contact the Provincial Resource Team for more information.