

Flipped Class

Resources

Description	Link
History of the Flipped Classroom  The blog of Jonathan Bergmann who along with Aaron Sams pioneered the Flipped Class Model of education	The Flipped Class Blog
Crystal Kirch is a math teacher in California. She is the current educator of the year at her high school and she is always striving for excellence in the #flipclass	Flipping with Kirch
Carolyn Durley is a Biology teacher in British Columbia. She says this about herself "Fast talking, multitasking, Biology teacher, who has fallen for technology in a big way. Come on, let's go!"	Through the Flipping Glass-The Good, the Bad and the Ugly
Here, you will see the results of a survey conducted by Crystal Kirch. Who is flipping? What subjects? What grade levels? When they started? etc...	Who is Flipping out there?
A list of research articles, reports, books, articles etc...	Flip Teaching
Aaron Sams hopes to shed some light on some of the confusion, critique, and hype of the flipped class.	There is no such thing as flipped class
"The Electric Educator" wants to share his tools for flipping the class	10 Tools to Help you Flip Your Class
Brian Bennett teaches science. His slideshow presents an overview of his methods and tools	The Flipped Classroom and Mastery Learning
Andy Schwen is a math teacher. In this link you will find a prezi that presents an overview of the tools he uses (and shares) for managing some of the learning that takes place in his #flipclass.	Mr. Schwen's Learning and Management Tools
A YouTube video	A student's Take on the Flip class
A professional learning community for teachers using screencasting in education.	Flipped Learning Network Ning
A TED Talk: Salman Khan talks about how and why he created the remarkable Khan Academy, a carefully structured series of educational videos offering complete curricula in math and, now, other subjects.	Salman Khan
Online simulations that power inquiry and understanding	GIZMOS
Aaron Sams brilliantly summarizes our thoughts on "The Flip Class"	Teaching for Tomorrow: Flipped Learning

Description	Link
History of the Flipped Classroom            The blog of Jonathan Bergmann who along with Aaron Sams pioneered the Flipped Class Model of education	The Flipped Class Blog
Crystal Kirch is a math teacher in California. She is the current educator of the year at her high school and she is always striving for excellence in the #flipclass	Flipping with Kirch
Carolyn Durley is a Biology teacher in British Columbia. She says this about herself "Fast talking, multitasking, Biology teacher, who has fallen for technology in a big way. Come on, let's go!"	Through the Flipping Glass-The Good, the Bad and the Ugly
Here, you will see the results of a survey conducted by Crystal Kirch. Who is flipping? What subjects? What grade levels? When they started? etc...	Who is Flipping out there?
A list of research articles, reports, books, articles etc...	Flip Teaching
Aaron Sams hopes to shed some light on some of the confusion, critique, and hype of the flipped class.	There is no such thing as flipped class
"The Electric Educator" wants to share his tools for flipping the class	10 Tools to Help you Flip Your Class
Brian Bennett teaches science. His slideshow presents an overview of his methods and tools	The Flipped Classroom and Mastery Learning
Andy Schwen is a math teacher. In this link you will find a prezi that presents an overview of the tools he uses (and shares) for managing some of the learning that takes place in his #flipclass.	Mr. Schwen's Learning and Management Tools
A YouTube video	A student's Take on the Flip class
A professional learning community for teachers using screencasting in education.	Flipped Learning Network Ning
A TED Talk: Salman Khan talks about how and why he created the remarkable Khan Academy, a carefully structured series of educational videos offering complete curricula in math and, now, other subjects.	Salman Khan
Online simulations that power inquiry and understanding	GIZMOS
Aaron Sams brilliantly summarizes our thoughts on "The Flip Class"	Teaching for Tomorrow: Flipped Learning

Technology Resources

Description	Link
Camtasia Screen Capture Software	TechSmith
Free Screencasting Tools	Reverse Instruction Tools and Techniques - Screencasting

LEARN Resources

Description	Link
Our own Audrey McLaren McGoldrick blogs about her "real-time journey" into Web 2.0	Flipping 101
A collection of articles, blogs, videos to get your feet wet on "Flipping the Class"	Peggy Drolet's "Scoop-it" page
LEARN blog	QPAT presentation in Flip Class
Marc Andre Lalande from LEARN-RECIT prepared an amusing video to explain "The Flip Class"	Flip Class

#flipclass

@PeggyONeillDr

@a_mcsquared

@Science_LEARN